Artist Ben Hughes is runner up in The Bath Prize painting competition.

Ben Hughes, part time chartered accountant with Richardson Groves, has also been painting professionally for ten years. His recent contemporary painting of Southgate Shopping Centre entitled 'Under Construction' caught the judges' eye at The Bath Prize, scooping 2nd prize along with a cheque for £1,000.

Every artist who entered the competition was allocated a location and Ben was certainly surprised when he was given the unusual subject of the new shopping centre.

Ben can regularly be seen painting out and about in Bath and you can view his paintings on either of his websites; www.benhughesart.co.uk and www.portraitswest.co.uk.

In addition there is a selection of his paintings in the Richardson Groves foyer, right here at Cleveland House.
